THE REPLY FILED 17 August 2009 FAILS TO PLACE THIS A	PPLICATION IN CONDITION FOR	ALLOWANCE.
I. \(\) The reply was filed after a final rejection, but prior to or on the same day as filing a Notice of Appeal. To avoid abandonment of thi application, applicant must timely file one of the following replies: (1) an amendment, affidavit, or other evidence, which places the application in condition for allowance; (2) a Notice of Appeal (with appeal fee) in compliance with 37 CFR 41.31; or (3) a Request for Continued Examination (RCE) in compliance with 37 CFR 1.114. The reply must be filed within one of the following time periods:

MONTHS OF THE FINAL REJECTION. See MPEP 706.07
Extensions of time may be obtained under 37 CFR 1.136(a). The date on which the petition under 37 CFR 1.136(a) and the appropriate extension fee have been filled is the date for purposes of determining the period of extension and the corresponding amount of the fee. The appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.17(a) is calculated from: (1) the expiration date of the shortened statutory period for reply originally set in the final Office action; or (2) as set for thin (b) above, if checked. Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of the final rejection, even if timely filled, may reduce any sermed patient term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b). Continuation of 11, does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because:

In the Remarks filed on August 17, 2009, the applicant argues that Wong does not teach upper shielding plates and lower shielding plates and therefore would not be combinable with Artino et al. This argument is deemed to be unpersusaive, because thin of al. all ready teaches the upper shielding plates and lower shielding plates, therefore Wong is not required to teach the same features. Wong is merely relied upon to teach that it is known to use a shield that overlaps the edges of a substrate in order to deposit a uniform thickness coating on the substrate. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the shields of Akino et al. such that it overlaps the edges of the substrate, as taught by Wong, because it would deposit a uniform thickness coating on the substrate (column 2 lines 49-53 of Wong). In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowled which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is procer. See In re McLaudhin, 443 F.24 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

The applicant further argues that Andricacos et al. also does not teach the upper shielding plates and lower shielding plates and therefore would not be combinable with Akino et al. As stated above, since Akino et al. a laready teaches the upper shielding plates and lower shielding plates. Andricacos et al. is not required to teach the same features. In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or frolighing the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1994 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, since Akino et al. and Andricacos et al. are both directed to an electroplating apparatus and the apparatus in other references require a solution intel, it would nevel been obvious one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the plating solution intel of Akino et al. with that of Andricacos et al. because it would uniformly discharge the plating solution, as taught by Andricacos et al. (column 6 line 47 — column 7 line 20).
